2. Note - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

The following summarizes the more significant accounting and reporting policies and practices of the Company.

a) Statement of Compliance

The Company's financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States ("GAAP")

b) Accrual Basis

The Company's has prepared these financial statements on the accrual basis of accounting, which recognizes income when earned rather than received and expenses when incurred rather than paid.

c) Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statements of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid investments available for current use with an initial maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

d) Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual outcomes could differ from these estimates.

The Company bases its estimates and assumptions on current facts, historical experience and various other factors that it believes to be reasonable under the circumstances, the results of which form the basis for making judgments about the carrying value of assets and liabilities and the accrual of costs and expenses that are not readily apparent from other sources. The actual results experienced by the Company may differ materially and adversely from the Company's estimates. To the extent there are material differences between estimates and the actual results, future results of operations will be affected. The impacts of such estimates may be pervasive throughout the financial statements and may require accounting adjustments based on future occurrences.

e) Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivables are based on amounts billed to customers. Accounts receivables are due 30 days after the issuance of an invoice. Accounts that are past due more than 90 days, are considered delinquent and, may have judgments that are in process of collections.

f) Subsequent Events

Management has evaluated subsequent events through December 31, 2020, the date on which the financial statements were available to be issued. Management has determined that none of the events occurring after the date of the balance sheet through the date of Management's review substantially affect the amounts and disclosure of the accompanying financial statements.

3. Note - Deferred Tax Asset

Deferred Tax Asset is a result of prior years' losses. The actual value of the current DTA is dependent upon various variables.

4. Note - COVID-19

On March 11, 2020, the World Health Organization declared the global outbreak of a novel corona-virus identified as "COVID-19" a global pandemic. As a result of COVID-19 lock-downs, a global chip capacity shortage has manifested, as COVID-19 and the resulting chip capacity shortage continues to progress and evolve, it is challenging, to predict the full extent its impact will have on the business. Given the ongoing economic uncertainty as a result of "COVID-19, a reliable estimate of the impact cannot be made at the date of authorization of these financial statements. These developments could impact our future financial results, cash flows and financial condition however the management of the Company is hopeful that it will not significantly impact the business of the Company.
